

Excerpt from Religion Under the Barons of Baltimore: Being a Sketch of Ecclesiastical Affairs From the Founding of the Maryland Colony in to the Formal Establishment of the Church of England in 1692, With Special Reference to the Claim That Maryland Was Founded by Roman Catholics as the Seed Plot of ReligioStudents are well aware that much which passes current in Maryland for reliable history, is utterly unworthy of credit. This is especially the case with Marylands ecclesiastical history. But this fact need occasion little or no surprise. That error should have been very largely incorporated in the story of Marylands past, was as natural and inevitable as are the storms of March or the shortening of the days in winter, seeing that imagination had been called upon to fill up many and large gaps in her records. Now, however, it is altogether different. Increased historical research; the publication of the Maryland Archives; above all, the recovery and publication of the Calvert Papers after many years disappearance, have solved questions once apparently insoluble, removed difficulties long considered insuperable, and reconciled seemingly hopeless contradictions.
